Marion found respite during a time of trouble. George found his life partner. Marjorie found something she'd thought she'd lost forever. They all found more than they bargained for when they joined the New Horizons Music Program, a program for senior musicians whose skills range from novice to seasoned. Marion, George, Marjorie and others share how they found a new connection to music and so much more in the hour-long documentary, MUSIC FOR LIFE: THE STORY OF NEW HORIZONS. What started as a 30-member band in Rochester, New York more than 20 years ago has grown to a program that includes 10,000 musicians in 215 New Horizons bands across the United States, as well as Canada, Ireland, Australia, and several other countries. The New Horizons program defies the notion that "retirement means sitting on your sofa all day, watching television, and waiting to die." Whether New Horizons' members have rekindled, or found for the first time, their passion for music and performing - they are part of something bigger than themselves. Along the way, they have discovered new abilities, formed life-long friendships, and proved to us all that life is a journey, not a race. The New Horizons program defies the notion that "retirement means sitting on your sofa all day, watching television, and waiting to die." That's how Dr. Roy Ernst, professor emeritus at Eastman School of Music and New Horizons founder, puts it. His philosophy, as he explains in the documentary, is that anyone can learn to play music at a personal level that will bring a sense of accomplishment. "When you play a great piece of music you're in the presence of something far greater than yourself," explains Rochester Philharmonic Orchestra conductor Laureate Christopher Seaman. And, that's exactly what New Horizons' members experience.

OVER 90 AND LOVING IT profiles an inspirational group of people in their 90s and 100s who continue to lead full and passionate lives. The documentary introduces a wide range of engaging characters - from a legendary folk singer to a senior Olympian to a New York City taxi-cab driver. Each interviewee offers pearls of wisdom about achieving and sustaining a happy life, regardless of age. They discuss the benefits of keeping physically active; maintaining a positive attitude; embracing maturity; staying curious about the future but engaged in the present; making a difference in the lives of others; and, ultimately, learning to gracefully accept death as an inevitable part of life.

Deceased. Departed. Passed away. No matter how you say it, it happens to all of us. More than two and a half million people will die in the United States this year. One big difference between the quality of those deaths is where they occur. At home surrounded by family and loved ones, or in the Intensive Care Unit hooked up to pulsing machines with blinking lights. The difference usually comes down to whether you passed on your dying wishes before passing on? Death is as much a part of human existence as is life, yet it remains a mysterious, often taboo subject. Passing On, a new documentary from Arizona Public Media, explores end-of-life through a series of compelling and sensitive stories that will engage you emotionally and provide you with valuable information.

From his roots as an activist and poet to his indelible mark on Broadway, this program captures the legacy of the man some call America's Shakespeare. Film and theater luminaries such as James Earl Jones, Viola Davis, Phylicia Rashad, Laurence Fishburne, Charles Dutton and others share their stories of the career and experience of bringing Wilson's rich theatrical voice to the stage. This film tells of his journey to the Great White Way, the triumphs and struggles along the path to such seminal works as Ma Rainey's Black Bottom, the Pulitzer Prize-winning Fences, Joe Turner's Come and Gone, the Pulitzer Prize-winning The Piano Lesson, Two Trains Running and four others before his untimely death in 2005. Directed by Emmy-winner Samuel Pollard (When the Levees Broke: A Requiem in Four Acts; Slavery by Another Name).

Costa Rica - Haitians in Limbo (Harris Whitbeck) - At the border between Costa Rica and Nicaragua, thousands of Haitians have been arriving, dead tired, but full of hope. They have come from Brazil, a place they fled two years ago in search of a better future. But the crisis in Brazil has them fleeing once again. After trekking more than 5-thousand kilometers, their journey has come to an abrupt halt. Correspondent Harris Whitbeck reports about this refugee camp in Costa Rica. Game Changer - Enrique Chiu (Lisa Hagen) - The border dividing Mexico and the United States has become a symbol for fear and division, but one artist is on a quest to transform it into a beacon of hope and humanity. His project is called the "Wall of Brotherhood", and it aims to inspire hearts and minds meter by meter of the border wall. Our Game Changer this week is Enrique Chiu. Nicaragua - Turtle Trouble (Grace Gonzalez) - Imagine standing on a beach and seeing thousands of turtles emerge from the ocean and on to the shore all at once. It happens each year in Nicaragua. Certain turtles - like the Olive Ridley - migrate there to lay their eggs. But threats to these sea creatures are causing trouble. Our correspondent Grace Gonzalez reports from the Nicaragu a Coast to see how turtle conservationists are helping ensure the survival of this revered and endangered reptile.

Colombia - Homeless City (Michelle Begue) - When Bogota's new mayor Enrique Penalosa took office in early 2016, he vowed to take down crime in the Colombian capital. One of his first offensives was a raid into the "Bronx." It is the city's most dangerous slum, plagued by drugs, weapons and savage violence. The raid ended with the evacuation of cartels and criminal gangs... but it also uncovered a complex reality: thousands of people were living in the Bronx, without a home. Correspondent Michelle Begue has more on Colombia's Homeless City. Portugal - Portuguese Homecoming (Gerry Hadden) - Waves of Brazilians have been arriving in Portugal, in what some are calling an unprecedented influx of immigration. They come from all walks of life: rich and poor; educated and uneducated; entering with and without legal documents. But they are bound by a common goal: to escape economic and political instability back home. AN correspondent Gerry Hadden has the story of this unique return to the motherland. Musical - Rio: World Heritage Rio - It's called the Marvelous City an iconic metropolis known for its sky-high cliffs, vast beaches and lush tropical vegetation. Its most emblematic statue is said to welcome visitors with open arms: Its most famous song celebrates a girl who swayed her hips on the way to Ipanema beach. And now, it's officially a UNESCO World Heritage Site after almost 5 years waiting. Rio de Janeiro is this week's musical ending piece.

Mexico - Crime free town - Mexico's war on drugs has proven long and brutal. The central state of Michoacan has been hit especially hard, with rival cartels fighting each other for territory AND against onslaughts by the Mexican Army. The violence has led to lawlessness... and a spike in illegal logging. One small town, Cheran, took on all the bad guys and drove them out. Five years later the Purepecha Indian village is still effectively governing itself. Peace reigns in Cheran but villagers say they can never lower their guard. Costa Rica - Renewable energy - Costa Rica is well-known for its pristine nature, abundant waterways and commitment to clean energy. But the country has recently taken its environmental initiative one step further. It has broken records for going the longest stretch of time -- using energy "only" from renewable power sources. Correspondent Harris Whitbeck reports on the progress this pioneering nation is making -- to be a global model for sustainability.

Guatemala - Fleeing Guatemala In Central America, young migrants are leaving home without parental permission to make a perilous trek to the United States. In search of better economic opportunities, they embark on a journey that Amnesty International has called "one of the world's most dangerous." But not all make it. USA - Research Role Model Though it was once associated as being dominated by men, science is increasingly being redefined by women, many of whom are blazing trails in previously uncharted territory. In Florida, one female scientist has been working hard to claim her space, but also, to bring more scientists like her into the field. Uruguay - 40 Day Carnival Celebrated every year in many Latin America countries, carnival is a festival that has roots in Catholicism. Before Holy Week, traditionally a time for fasting and spiritual introspection, people take to the streets for dancing and debauchery prior to the solemnity that will follow.

Haiti - Privatizing Education (Stephen Gibbs) Private education is often a luxury only the wealthiest can afford. But in Haiti, the poorest country in the Western hemisphere, far more children attend private schools than state ones. The country's constitution stipulates all Haitian children have the right to a free education but unfortunately, no government in Haitian history has come close to achieving that. USA - Latinos in Silicon Valley (Mike Kirsch) Some of the United States' best minds in technology come from Latin America, and land in California's Silicon Valley. Latin American brain power is credited for widely-used technologies that include the smart phones on which we talk and the smart drones that fly medicine to the poor

Mexico - Raperas Murders of women have become so commonplace in Mexico in recent years, that the term "femicide" is now firmly embedded in the country's vocabulary. But even as women are murdered at an alarming rate, families claim authorities don't properly investigate their cases, leaving them in the dark about their loved ones' deaths. USA - Latina Scientist Imagine taking a prediction made a hundred years ago by one of the greatest minds of the 20th century and finding the evidence to prove it to be true today. That's what an Argentine-born female physicist did as part of a team of scientists in Louisiana. By validating Albert Einstein's theory of relativity, they are being showered with worldwide acclaim, and the near certainty of a Nobel Prize. Musical - Culinary Star Meet Maria Marte, the Dominican cook who moved to Spain in pursuit of her dreams. Because she had no formal training, she took a job as a dishwasher in one of Madrid's most prestigious restaurants. Less than ten years later, she is its star chef.

ANTIQUES ROADSHOW revisits items appraised in Richmond, Virginia, back in 1998. A Cartier desk clock has increased in value from a 1998 appraisal of $10,000 to $15,000 to an updated estimate of $25,000 to $ 35,000. Meanwhile, a Royal Doulton bear has dropped from an original appraisal of $5,000 to $7,000 to a current valuation of $3,000 to $5, 000. Other items featured include 1956 World Series baseballs, a Carnegie autograph album and a collection of diamond and ruby jewelry.

The final decades of the 1800s found much of Europe in a losing battle with over-population. Many people felt that their only hope for survival was to immigrate to The United States. They soon discovered that the streets were not paved with gold. In fact, most of the streets were not paved at all, and they were expected to pave them. In this program, Burt takes a look at where they came from and what they contributed to the history of our nation.

For hundreds of years, people have been arguing the issue of Nature vs. Nurture. Are we the result of our youthful experience s or the genes we inherited from our ancestors? Recently, scientists have come to the conclusion that our genes interact with our environment and we change constantly throughout our lives. Our biology is actually altered by our environment. To take a look at this question, Burt talked to a group of people who had grown up in the structured culture of Taiwan and in their early years moved to the more open culture of the United States. Among the people Burt talks to are Steve Chen co-inventor of YouTube and Justin Lin who makes the Fast and Furious films. Burt then travels to Taiwan to take a look at what influenced the ir youth.

When Burt started traveling around the world, the hotels, restaurants, airlines, and just about every other business he encountered had been started by a man, today, half the businesses he deals with were put together by entrepreneurial women and as Martha Stewart would say, "That's a good thing". In this program Burt travels around looking at the tradition of women entrepreneurs.

The Maya people have been living in Guatemala for over 10,000 years. Burt visits their ancient tribal communities, learns how they were able to develop calendars that are as accurate as the ones we use today. He stops into Funsepa, which is a non-profit foundation that gives the children of Guatemala the technical skills they will need to compete in the modern world. He tours the city of Antigua, checks out the influence of the Spanish conquistadors and learns about Guatemalan music, crafts and food.

For over 20 years, researchers have been studying the effects of drawing, painting and viewing works of art on brain function. The results have been astounding. These activities can help prevent memory loss, increase mental fitness, stimulate your brain to grow new neurons, and increase the production of dopamine that improves your sense of wellbeing and the ability to focus your attention. In this program, Burt tours some of the world's great museums, talks to leading artists and medical researchers in order to understand the phenomenon.

ON THE ROAD IN AMERICA consists of three half-hour programs that report on the history of migrations within the United States --- not how people got here, but how and why they moved around once they were here. In the first program TAILS OF HOPE & TEARS Burt retraces the big relocations of the 19th century. Native Americans were relocated and their ancestral lands turned over to European settlers. In addition, the government was in the process of giving away valuable mineral claims. And finally, there was the discovery of gold.

In the second program in ON THE ROAD IN AMERICA, titled PACK UP YOUR TROUBLES, Burt continues the story. This time it's around the theme of wars and crisis, covering the two world wars and the depression. Wars often move people around. The labor force demands of WWI accelerated the move from farms to cities and initiated the Great Migration out of the South. The Depression slowed migration as worried people stayed close to home. The Dust Bowl migration, driven by environmental as well as an economic crisis, was the memorable exception.

Suzhou is the heart and origin of the world's oldest and most well known classical Chinese Gardens. These gardens are on UNESCO's World Heritage site list. Lance, an architect, and Kelly, a landscape designer, from the SF Bay Area experience the synthesis of art, nature, and architecture from several masterpiece gardens in Suzhou, China. They also engage in different aspects of Suzhou's culture. These two travelers visit the Master of Nets Garden, which was designed and built during the Song Dynasty almost 1000 years ago. They traverse the rock maze of the Lion Forest Garden, and experience the tranquility of the Couple's Retreat Garden and more. Along the way, they see the architectural poetry of the garden-like Suzhou Museum, designed by the world famous architect, I.M. Pei, who also designed the Louvre in Paris. An exciting excursion to the water town of Tongli, south of the Yangtze River Delta, exposes Lance and Kelly to ancient waterways, bridges and residential architecture. At the 100 year old restaurant, Songhe Lou, they savor Suzhou cuisine like the signature dish Song Shu Gui Yu (fried sweet and sour squirrel-shaped Mandarin fish). Watch Lance and Kelly's discovery of a distinctive culture as they decode ancient Chinese Gardens.

Argentines maintain that Patagonia begins at the Rio Colorado in the Province of Neuquen. Traveling south, they cross that river on Ruta 40 (Route Forty) in a volcanic landscape amidst a vast desert, the majestic peaks of the Andes always present on the right. Within the slopes of the Andes are myriad lakes and towns constructed by European immigrants and expatriates, but never far from the arid, windswept steppes of Patagonia. More secluded are the Mapuches - Indians who resisted the European onslaught and today struggle to retain their culture. In Patagonia, all roads lead to San Carlos Bariloche, the crown jewel of Ruta 40, a Swiss-type resort on the shores of the great Lake Nahuel-Huapi. On a sailboat, David travels westward, passing from desert scrub on the shoreline to the lush rainforests and snows of the Andes.

The Wind River Range in western Wyoming is the state's largest mountain range, nearly one hundred miles from north to south. With dozens of massive peaks, it is also home to the wildest country in the lower 48 states. Much of it is protected in wilderness, which David and his team commemorate on the 50th anniversary of the passage of the Wilderness Act of 1964. On arriving, they visit ancient foothill sites where Shoshone Indians left examples of their art, historic locations of Indian battles, and scars of mines and ghost towns before plunging deep into the wilds of the Wind Rivers - on foot.

A small state in Brazil's dry northeast, Ceara is home to a variety of traditions not found in the rest of the vast country. The inland bush, called the sertao, is home to cowboys and an odd rodeo, while the coast supports fisherman whose wooden boats are little changed over the last several centuries. Ceara is home to Brazil's most important religious shrine, its last lace-weavers, and a startling array of tropical fruits.

Argentina's nostalgic Ruta 40 passes along the base of the Cordillera of the Andes from the extreme north to the southernmost road in the nation. On its way Ruta 40 meets the famed wine capital of Mendoza, whose dedication to Malbec wine is recent, but whose win production dates to colonial times. David lingers in the vineyards and bodegas, sampling the varieties of Malbec and Argentine food. Farther south, Ruta 40 penetrates the northern reaches of Patagonia, a windswept desert bordered on the west by the incomparable Andes, and massive pre-Andean volcanoes.

The shanty towns for which Rio Janeiro is famous (or notorious) play a pivotal role in the city's cultural history. Favelas, as they are known, rise precipitously from near the ocean far up the hillsides. Often bereft of minimal municipal services, they are home to a rich cultural life, their own social organization, and along the way in their history, have provided the artistic and dramatic talent for Brazil's most important international artistic contribution, Carnival in Rio. David visits favelas and speaks with residents there.

The most popular music in Jamaica today is the hard-edged sounds of dancehall. In this episode, Edgar experiences the power of the movement first hand at the Reggae Sunfest and Fully Loaded festivals. Top stars Elephant Man, Beenie Man, Bounty Killer and others tear up the stage as capacity crowds express their appreciation with homemade flamethrowers and explicit dance moves. Edgar visits legendary producer King Jammy at his studio for some insight into the early days of the dancehall sound. At Sunfest, Edgar brings viewers behind-the-scenes to the backstage chaos and the culinary delights (chicken foot stew anyone?) of the festival. Music Voyager takes to the streets for an inspiring visit to Flankers, a poor neighborhood where local kids offer hope for the future and show us some amazing dance moves. We close the episode with a visit to the home and studio of Chino and Steven MacGregor, scorching young dancehall talents, who treat us to some jerk chicken and invite us into their recording studio to hear some dancehall works in progress.

The Colombian city of Cali, known as the world capital of salsa, also serves as the urban center of the country's Afro-Pacific culture. Host Jacob Edgar discovers why Columbia adopted as its native style the upbeat tropical dance music of salsa. He meets Grupo Niche, one of the world's most famous salsa bands, for a performance at their private club Dulce con Dulce, and explores the famous Juanchito neighborhood where salsa clubs line the streets. A four-time world champion salsa dance team demonstrates their moves in a square in downtown Cali (Plaza Caicedo), while the electronic duo No DJs provides a taste of cutting-edge Latin music. This episode also explores the local Afro-Pacific music with an intimate performance by Grupo Bahia on the banks of the Rio Melendez, and young bloods Herencia de Timbiqui demonstrate their funky grooves in the streets of the old city. Finally, Edgar jams in Matildelina with the hippest salsa band in Colombia, La-33, who bring a modern attitude to this classic style.

The Mavericks merge traditional country with traditional rock & roll. The band became one of the most critically acclaimed and commercially successful groups of the early '90s. Raul Malo remains the lead singer of the band, his voice easily navigating country, rockabilly, Latino and even opera. The legendary group has released a brand new album called Mono. Whitney Rose is a special guest on the show as requested by Raul Malo himself, who produced her new album Heartbreaker of the Year. Whitney is a powerful Canadian artist who first met the Mavericks when she was booked to open for them in Toronto, and they were suitably impressed enough to ask her to join them for their entire 2014 cross-Canada tour.

Tom Paxton is a legendary singer/songwriter. Paxton headed to Greenwich Village in the early '60s, just in time to join Bob Dylan, Dave Van Ronk, Joan Baez and other troubadours who took over coffeehouse stages - and took on the world. Paxton has been raising his rich voice in song ever since, carrying on the folk tradition with passion, wit and grace. He is considered one of the great songwriters of the last century and will be reckoned as one of the greats in this new century, as well. He's celebrating the release of his 62nd (or so) album, Redemption Road. Sam Gleaves was raised in Wythe County in southwest Virginia, where he has sung his entire life. Sam's performances combine traditional ballads, dance tunes, original songs and the stories that surround the music. Sam earned a degree in Folklore from Berea College and has performed throughout the United States and internationally. He's released a debut album of contemporary Appalachian songs called Ain't We Brothers.

The Carter Family are considered the most influential group in country music history. Comprised of a gaunt, shy gospel quartet member named Alvin P. Carter and two reserved country girls -- his wife, Sara, and their sister-in-law, Maybelle -- the Carter Family sang a pure, simple harmony that influenced not only the numerous other family groups of the '30s and the '40s, but folk, bluegrass, and rock musicians like Woody Guthrie, Bill Monroe, the Kingston Trio, Doc Watson, Bob Dylan, and Emmylou Harris, to mention just a few. Among the more than 300 sides they recorded are "Worried Man Blues," "Wabash Cannonball," "Will the Circle Be Unbroken," "Wildwood Flower," and "Keep on the Sunny Side." This WoodSongs Special Event Broadcast will be celebrating the Legacy of the Carter Family and will feature: John Carter Cash has been involved in music all his life and is an accomplished and award winning record producer. However, his activities in the creative world reach far beyond just music production. He is also a singer-songwriter, and author. The grandson of Maybelle Carter and the only son to Johnny Cash and June Carter Cash, he preserves the family legacy and is a caretaker to the heritage of his musical ancestors. Dale Jett is a native of Southwest Virginia and is a third generation member of the legendary Carter Family. The son of Janette Carter, the grandson of A.P. and Sara Carter, his roots have been heavily steeped within the heart of his family's musical heritage. Their group, "Hello Stranger", features Dale as he carries on the Carter Family tradition. Al, Alice & Ruth are a Berea-based Appalachian and bluegrass trio. They toured for years as part of the McLain Family Band, a world-renowned family bluegrass band and Kentucky musical treasure.

Celtic Aire is the premier Celtic and folk ensemble of the United States Air Force. Formed in 2007, the group is comprised of five Airmen musicians from The United States Air Force Band's Singing Sergeants, the official chorus of the U.S. Air Force. In addition to community relations concerts in Washington, D.C., and the surrounding area, this small ensemble regularly performs at official functions for military and civilian leaders. In 2009, Celtic Aire deployed to Kuwait, Iraq, Qatar and Kyrgyzstan in support of diplomatic and troop morale initiatives as a part of Operation Enduring Freedom. Their latest release is 'As I Roved Out'. Leroy Troy And The Tennessee Mafia Jug Band are a "blast from the past" band. They are five guys and a scrub board, with roots like wisdom teeth anchored by Leroy Troy, "The Tennessee Slicker," who has performed his astounding old time banjo act since the 1980's and was a featured player on hit TV show Hee Haw. Their latest CD is Lester's Loafin' Lounge.

Elle King is a phenomenal performer, songwriter, with an incredible voice and massive personality. Her single "Ex's & Oh's" is a hit. It just certified gold by the RIAA, has over 6.5 million views on YouTube and is nominated for two Grammys. She received raves at all the summer festivals including Bonnaroo, Lollapalooza and more. Her debut album Love Stuff on RCA Records marks the true arrival of the young singer/songwriter/guitarist/banjoist as a pop force to be reckoned with. It's frank and fearless, tender and rowdy. David Wax Museum had the breakout performance at the 2010 Newport Folk Festival and made them the most talked-about band of the weekend, with NPR hailing them as "pure, irresistible joy." David Wax Museum's new album Guesthouse melds the band's strong acoustic sound with synthesizers, layers of percussion, and adventurous sonic processing to create the band's boldest studio album to date.

Charlie Musselwhite is one of the most revered blues musicians in the world. The harmonica master, also is a respected singer and songwriter in his own right. He has won countless awards during his legendary career including induction into the Blues Hall of Fame and collaborated with innumerable musical giants of the past 50 years including Howlin' Wolf, Muddy Waters, Big Joe Williams, Little Walter, Sonny Boy Williamson, Tom Waits, Eddie Vedder and Ben Harper, just to name to name a few. His latest I Ain't Lyin' is all Charlie - original tunes penned by this Grammy winning master that resonate with the South itself. Gill Landry is a songwriter and multi-instrumentalist from Louisiana. After cutting his musical teeth busking in New Orleans and chewing up half of America, he started writing on guitar, banjo, pedal steel, and been a contributing songwriter in Old Crow Medicine Show since 2004. Although Gill's music is influenced by some of the same sources as Old Crow, from Dylan to old delta blues songsters, his music is very much his own. Gill's self titled third album is his first on the ATO label.

Iris Dement is considered "one of the great voices in contemporary popular music" (NPR), Beginning with her 1992 debut, Infamous Angel, which was hailed as "an essential album of the 1990's" by Rolling Stone, DeMent released a series of stellar records that established her as "one of the finest singer-songwriters in America" according to The Guardian. The music earned her multiple Grammy nominations, as well as the respect of peers like John Prine, Steve Earle, and Emmylou Harris, who all invited her to collaborate. The Trackless Woods is her latest and original music and melodies, the record brings 18 poems by acclaimed 20th century Russian poet Anna Akhmatova to life. Iris recorded the album in five days, immediately taken by the sorrow and burden of the poems juxtaposed with Akhmatova's lightness and transcendence in the face of inhumanity. Leyla McCalla is a multi-instrumentalist, is a cellist and singer whose distinctive sound is impossible to replicate. Leyla toured and recorded with the renowned African-American string band the Carolina Chocolate Drops and is now focused on her solo career. Living in New Orleans, she released her debut album Vari-Colored Songs: A Tribute to Langston Hughes in 2014. The album consists of compositions she has written to Langston Hughes poetry, Haitian folk songs and original pieces.

The Wood Brothers began as something of a side project between Chris Wood (Medeski Martin & Wood) and brother Oliver (Tinsley Ellis and King Johnson) in 2006. Adapting the blues, folk and other roots-music sounds they loved as kids into their own evocative sound and twining their voices in the sort of high-lonesome harmony blend for which sibling singers are often renowned, it's become quite clear that The Wood Brothers have indeed become the main act. With the addition of drummer Jano Rix, the band have become a stalwart on the Americana scene and "Masters of Soulful Funk" (Paste Magazine). Paradise is the band's fifth album and it's their most sophisticated and rocking work to date. The Claudettes create their own fanatical fusion of blues and soul-jazz-like Ray Charles on a punk kick. Think The White Stripes and Black Keys brandish with a piano instead and fronted by Nigerian-American singer/dancer Yana who sings in French. File under: post-burlesque? Neo-vaudeville? Cosmic cartoon music? You've never seen a band quite like this.

Lorraine Jordan & Carolina Road have a distinct sound and charismatic stage show, which sets them apart from many traditional bluegrass bands. Affectionately known as the "Lady of Tradition" in bluegrass, Lorraine has fronted Carolina Road for over 15 years. She just won SPBGMA's 2015 Traditional Female Vocalist of the Year and the band took home honors for 2015 SPBGMA's Song of the Year for "That's Kentucky". Appearing with Lorraine & Carolina Road on this Special WoodSongs Broadcast will be: Cajun-influenced country star Eddy Raven with 8 #1 songs. The Martin Family Circus is a spectacular, talented, adorable family band of brilliant musicians. Paul Martin is a major Nashville session player, became an EXILE band member, and touring partner with Marty Stuart and the Oak Ridge Boys. The family includes mom and dad plus four kids 6-16.

SWEET HONEY IN THE ROCK are Grammy winning folk and civil rights legends who express their history as African-American women through a capella song, dance, and even sign language. While there is no doubt the uniqueness of Sweet Honey is the message, her musical sound is what attracts first-time listeners. Described in the magazine High Fidelity as "breathtaking excursions into harmony singing" and "neck-hair raising" in Downbeat, one is startled at the many musical guises through which the message may appear. WoodSongs is proud to present this Special Event Broadcast from this legacy ensemble as they perform songs from their latest album 'LoveInEvolution'. WoodSongs Kids: Students of Lexington's SCAPA Vocals will be performing the civil rights anthem "We Shall Overcome".

The Adirondack Park sprawls across six million acres in Upstate New York. Bigger than Yellowstone, Yosemite, Glacier and Grand Canyon National Park combined, it is by far the largest park in the lower 48 states. Yet it is the only one on the continent in which large human populations live and whose land is divided almost evenly between protected wilderness and privately owned tracts. This patchwork pattern of land ownership has created an utterly unique place. The story of the Adirondacks is told through a series of passionate characters, each with a distinct perspective. Through their stories "The Adirondacks" explores this remarkable region and reveals a delicate and dynamic relationship between progress and preservation.

Tampa Bay Restoration & the Great Bay Scallop Search: Tampa Bay's restoration is a HUGE success story that could only happen with cooperation among non-profits, volunteers, the local and state government and industry. Twenty years ago, they set a goal to clean up the polluted bay. They EXCEEDED their goal and are now a model for other troubled and polluted waterways. Martin EcoSystems - In Louisiana and five other states, Martin EcoSystems has found a way to use recycled plastic to protect coastline by building floating islands and populating them with indigenous plants. This innovative family-run business is rebuilding vulnerable wetlands, one tiny island at a time. Artist Pam Longobardi travels the world "harvesting" plastic trash to turn into amazing art that gets people talking about how to stop trashing our oceans. Pam says beauty is her greatest weapon as people first appreciate her art installations and then hear the story behind where she finds all her materials. Louis Psihoyos, filmmaker ("The Cove") talks about his new documentary, Racing Extinction, and the impact he hopes it will make on viewers.

On January 17, 2012, the Florida Wildlife Corridor Expedition team kicked off a 1000-mile expedition over a 100-day period to increase public awareness of the need to protect and restore Florida's wildlife habitat. Bear biologist Joe Guthrie, conservationist Mallory Lykes Dimmitt, photojournalist Carlton Ward Jr., and filmmaker Elam Stoltzfus trekked from the Everglades National Park toward Okefenokee National Forest in southern Georgia. The team traversed the wildlife habitats, watersheds and participating working farms and ranches, which comprise the Florida Wildlife Corridor opportunity area. The team documented its journey through photography, video streams, radio reports, daily updates on social media and digital networks, and a host of activities for reporters, landowners, celebrities, conservationists, politicians and other guests.

When overseas travel became possible, exotic plants were common cargo on ships all across the world. Unfortunately, many of those plants proved to be far more aggressive outside of their native range. At the Lady Bird Johnson Wildflower Center, we explain why some non-native plants are dangerous, how gardeners can prevent further spread of some of the more aggressive species, and how using the right native plant for a particular space can make gardening easier for people and better for the planet. We also visit a backyard Certified Wildlife Habitat and look at some of the simple ways of bringing nature to our own back door. In the kitchen, Chef Nathan uses a favorite American native fruit, to create a baked blueberry clafouti.

Each year, millions of plastic plant containers and tons of other horticultural debris never make it to the recycling bin. Instead, they clog our solid waste stream in a growing but avoidable problem. The good news is that many companies are working hard to fix this problem. In this episode we explore some of the latest innovations in the horticultural world today and how they can help eliminate this problem, one pot at a time. And in the kitchen, Chef Nathan uses a pot of his own. Recycling works in the kitchen too and he lets nothing go to waste to show us how to make homemade chicken stock.

At the height of our nation's industrial revolution over 100 years ago, wealthy businessman Henry Phipps built the Phipps Conservatory as a gift to the city of Pittsburgh. Today Phipps has become a model for public gardens and conservatories around the world for its sustainable building practices, energy conservation and eco friendly methods. In the process they've earned the distinction of being "America's Greenest Garden" and the greenest conservatory in the world. Taking his cue from the chocolate tree featured at the conservatory, Chef Nathan creates a molten chocolate cake that melts in the mouth.

On a typical late summer day a baby sea otter washes up on the beach in Monterey, California -- hungry, lost, injured. It's a tragic event, but not surprising. California sea otters are struggling. For decades marine biologist Karl Mayer and his small staff have worked unceasingly -- one otter at a time -- to bring this "keystone" species back from the brink of extinction so it can play its important role in the local marine environment. But the effort has stalled, and no one knows why. This is the story of the Monterey Bay Aquarium's 501st attempt to save an orphan otter. From her discovery as a stranded newborn pup crying on the beach through her rehabilitation in secret roof tanks atop the Aquarium, we follow as Otter 501 learns how to dive, hunt, eat, and fend for herself in the wild, where survival is a long shot at best.

Ironically, every dead elephant with its ivory intact is a reason to celebrate. It means an elephant died of natural causes, not bullets, snares or poison, and a soul was allowed to be celebrated and mourned by its herd. Award-winning filmmakers, Der eck and Beverly Joubert start with the remains of two bull elephants and through a series of key flashbacks, look at the lives they would have led, the dramas they may have seen, their great migrations for water with their families, and their encounters with lions and hyenas. This film, shot over two years, will be an intimate look at elephants through the lens of perhaps the greatest storytellers of natural history.

With high speed camerawork and breakthrough new science, we enter the fast-paced world of hummingbirds as never before. Speed is their middle name. Their lives are moving faster than the eye can see. They possess natural born super powers that enable them to fly backwards, upside-down, and float in mid-air. And for the first time, we see them mate, lay eggs, fight, and raise families in intimate detail. They are great athletes, tender mothers, brave in combat, and up for any challenge. They are Super Hummingbirds, the smallest and most brilliant birds on earth.

What does it take to relocate a herd of wild giraffes in Africa? One man, his family, and a band of enthusiastic helpers are about to find out. Their journey will take them across the wild heart of Uganda, crossing the mighty Nile River. The size of this operation cannot be underestimated, particularly when your cargo is so precious. That's because these are no ordinary giraffes, they are in fact the world's rarest. Any mistake could be costly, not only for the giraffes being moved but also for an entire species.

Not Without Us follows seven grassroots activists from around the world to the 21st U.N. Climate Talks in Paris. The effects of climate change on their lives reveal what's at stake if a strong agreement to limit carbon emissions is not reached. Yet, the landmark Paris Accords, signed by 195 nations, is non-binding and fails to mention the main cause of global climate change: fossil fuels. Not Without Us connects the dots between the inability of the U.N. process to address climate change and Big Oil's control over governments, between the economic inequality and the oncoming climate disaster, and between a fossil fuel driven economy and the 1% who control it. Not Without Us demonstrates the importance of grassroots groups to empower mass movements to create systemic change.

In poor, remote communities across Africa, parasitic worms transmitted by small black flies infect millions. The resulting river blindness torments sufferers with intense itching, and eventually robs them of their sight. GLOBAL HEALTH FRONTIERS: DARK FOREST, BLACK FLY travels to the front lines of Uganda's fight to eradicate this devastating disease. Narrated by Mia Farrow, the documentary highlights the field work and insights of scientists, health professionals and humanitarians, including former President Jimmy Carter, committed to solving the problem. The first program in the Global Health Frontiers series, Foul Water, Fiery Serpent documented the efforts of American health workers and community partners over the course of three years as they tracked and treated the last-known cases of guinea worm in Ghana and Sudan.

Inner World: Dealing With Everyday Trauma - Author and psychiatrist Mark Epstein wanted to bring trauma out of everyone's secret hiding place and out in the open. ABC news anchor Dan Harris had a panic attack on national TV. Michele found that both of them came to the same conclusion about dealing with the trauma - either "big T" or "little T" - that we're all going to encounter. Healthy Mac & Cheese Recipe- Avoiding processed foods is something we hear a lot about and our fresh living chef Sara Snow says that even applies to the macaroni and cheese which is loved by so many. So Sara shows us how to "break out of the box" and cook a homemade version that's truly healthy. Creating Sacred Spaces - Sacred spaces can add a lot to our life so we spent some time with Jane Rivar, a talented visual artist, to help us understand how we might create some of those spaces in our own environment. Healing Moment: Anything - In addition to being a gifted visual artist Jane Rivar is also a talented singer and songwriter. One of her creations is an inspiring music video titled "Anything" and it is our Healing Moment for this episode.

The ability to remove a healthy organ from one person and successfully transplant it into the body of another is one of the miracles of modern medicine. Organ donation and transplantation is about both giving and receiving the gift of life. From one single deceased donor, can come enough organs to help at least eight other individuals. Most often, deceased donors are those who have died a brain death from accidents, heart attacks or strokes and have given prior consent to gifting their functioning organs. Organ donations can also be planned, such as kidney transplants from a matching donor. In this episode of Health Body Healthy Mind, we will explore the world of organ donation and transplantation; learn about the decision making that goes into who receives a transplanted organ, and hear from patients whose lives have been forever touched by the kindness of a stranger.

A pregnancy is one of the miraculous times in a woman's life. But the condition known as Nausea and Vomiting of Pregnancy can diminish this joy. Also is known as "morning sickness", experts say this term is a misnomer because the symptoms can occur throughout the day. And while this condition typically goes away after a few weeks, the important lesson is that women do not have to suffer silently during this period. Instead, they should talk to their healthcare professional as soon as symptoms begin to affect their quality of life. Through lifestyle changes and new medical therapies, women should be able to better enjoy the most enriching pregnancy possible without reaching a more severe stage of these often troubling symptoms of pregnancy.

Idiopathic Pulmonary Fibrosis is a disease that robs a person's ability to breathe normally. The term idiopathic means "unknown cause", and "pulmonary fibrosis" is scar tissue in the lungs. Once the lungs are scarred, the condition can become irreversible, and interfere with the lungs capacity to transport oxygen to other organs of the body. IPF affects about 128,000 people in the United States with approximately 48,000 new IPF cases every year. It also contributes to about 40,000 deaths each year - a toll roughly equal to that of breast cancer. There are treatments however, and the goal is to offer greater hope in managing this disease. The only known cure today is that of lung transplants, an option for a small number of IPF patients.

Dermatomyositis and Polymyositis are part of a group of inflammatory conditions that typically cause swelling and a loss of muscle. Dermatomyositis affects muscle and skin, whereas Polymyositis essentially affects muscle only. These conditions affect nearly 75,000 people in the United States and can develop at any age, though typically between 40 and 50. Women are twice as likely as men to be affected. Although no cure has yet been found for either disorder, patients and their physicians can succeed in managing these conditions through carefully tailored regimens involving medications, exercise and rest. And clinical trials of new therapeutic agents are underway that could lead to even more effective treatment options in the future.

Too little iron in the blood can lead to fatigue, lower the immune system, and can cause the serious condition of anemia. But having too much iron, called hemochromatosis - or - iron overload is also a problem, creating poisonous conditions for the liver, heart and pancreas. It can also cause cancer, heart arrhythmias and cirrhosis of the liver. Iron overload can be caused by genetic factors, and such is the case with sickle cell disease, affecting an estimated 70,000 to 100,000 US citizens, the majority being African Americans. Iron overload is also prevalent in the disease called thalassemia - a group of genetic blood disorders. People with this disease cannot make normal hemoglobin to produce healthy red blood cells. If diagnosed and treated before organ damage has occurred iron overload patients can often grow and develop normally, with relatively normal heart and liver functions.

When the muscles and ligaments supporting a woman's pelvic organs weaken, the pelvic organs can slip out of place and create a bulge in the vagina. This is known as pelvic organ prolapse. Women most commonly develop pelvic organ prolapse years after childbirth, after a hysterectomy or after menopause. This condition may cause symptoms ranging from mild to severe, and can pose a major detriment to a woman's quality of life. Although there are known risks associated with some of the surgical procedures to address Pelvic Organ Prolapse, it can often be effectively addressed by properly trained medical professionals who specialize in this important area of medicine.

After skin cancer, prostate cancer is one of the most common forms of cancer in men. Every year about 240,000 America men are diagnosed with prostate cancer, which occurs more commonly in those 65 and over. With early detection, these tumors may be confined to the prostate gland itself, and can be treated or removed. But if prostate cancer should spread to areas like the lymph nodes, liver, adrenal gland, or bones, it is referred to as advanced metastatic prostate cancer. Only about ten percent of men diagnosed with prostate cancer have this form of late-stage cancer, for which there currently is no cure. However, there are a number of treatments available that may slow the cancer, relieve some of the symptoms, and often prolong life for three or more years. In this episode, we will explore prostate cancer that has spread to other parts of the body, and learn the latest treatment approaches that doctors often recommend.

An unintentional loss of urine is called urinary incontinence. Stress incontinence is caused when a physical movement or activity puts pressure (stress) on the bladder. Female stress incontinence is very common, and, in many cases, can be treated. Women in their 30s and beyond can be susceptible to this condition. Certain physical changes that can occur during pregnancy, childbirth, and also menopause, can result in stress incontinence. Muscles and ligaments that support the bladder can become weakened, eventually causing urine to leak into the urethra during moments of physical stress such as lifting, sneezing, coughing, even laughing. In this program we will give dialogue to a topic that many of those affected often feel too embarrassed to discuss. We'll meet with medical experts and their patients, as they define this common condition and how it is managed.

One in every thirteen children under the age of eighteen has food allergies, 6-8% of children under age three, and approximately 3% of adults - up to 15 million Americans altogether. Food allergies occur because the immune system falsely senses certain foods as harmful, and then releases chemicals like histamines into the bloodstream to fight this mistaken intruder, causing reactions. Food allergies should be considered dangerous, as they can cause frightening symptoms, such as irritation of the tongue, lips, and mouth; digestive problems, hives, and in some cases, a swelling of the breathing airways. For some, it can cause a suffocating, life-threatening reaction. In this edition of Healthy Body Healthy Mind we will explore the ongoing challenges of food allergies and what medical science recommends for its management. We'll also talk with patients and parents to learn how they address these challenges.

Idiopathic Pulmonary Fibrosis, or IPF, is a disease that robs a person's ability to breathe normally. Idiopathic, means "unknown cause", and fibrosis is defined as scar tissue. So, IPF creates a scarring of the lungs, eventually causing an irreversible loss in the capacity to transport oxygen through the bloodstream to all parts of the body including vital organs. IPF affects about 128,000 people in the United States, and there are approximately 48,000 new cases diagnosed each year. And sadly, IPF accounts for about 40,000 deaths each year - a toll roughly equal to breast cancer. Most IPF patients are diagnosed between the ages of 40 and 70 and tend to be male. Although there is no known cause, several risk factors for IPF have been identified which include smoking, exposure to certain types of dust and fumes, and genetics. In this program, we will hear from leading medical experts about the ongoing research into the treatment of this disease, and we will speak with IPF patients, about this often debilitating condition.

Gout has been an ongoing medical issue for thousands of years. From the 1960s to the 1990s, gout rates doubled in the United States. Today, an estimated 8 million Americans endure periodic bouts of excruciating pain as a result of gout. This pain stems from a build-up of a substance called uric acid in various joints of the body. Excess uric acid may cause lasting damage in joints and contribute to other maladies such as heart disease, kidney disease and even diabetes. Foot pain, especially in the big toe, is a common symptom for patients in the early stages of gout, but can occur in other areas of the body, especially the hands, wrists, elbows and knees. Whether symptoms consist of occasional flares, or are part of an ongoing presence, the intense pain of gout is the most common result. Through leading medical experts and their patients, we will explore the causes, treatment options, and lifestyle effects of gout.

There are many causes of chronic pain. Accidents, injuries, degenerative diseases, prior surgeries, even the normal aging process. Many people with chronic back and leg pain have arthritis, or they may have extra wear and tear of the spine due to strenuous activities. Other possible causes can include a curvature of the spine, or medical issues such as fibromyalgia. Those over 30 years of age can be at greater risk for chronic back and leg pain, as well as those who are overweight. Sometimes, the exact cause cannot be determined. Physicians may recommend physical therapy and rehabilitation measures. If pain persists, medication may be needed. Spinal surgery may be recommended if there is mechanical instability. And in some patients, a spinal cord stimulator (SCS) can help reduce back pain. In this program, we will explore the lifestyle and social challenges that can result from chronic back and leg pain. We will also hear from patients who have had a great deal of success in treating their pain symptoms.

It's understandable that most people associate Parkinson's with tremors and other motor symptoms. But for some, the disease gives rise to something more terrifying, and much more hidden: psychosis. It is estimated that as many as half of the one million Americans with Parkinson's disease today experience hallucinations, illusions, and delusions over the course of their disease. These symptoms are a signal of disease progression and are very likely to intensify over time which can frighten patients and caregivers alike. In this edition of Healthy Body Healthy Mind, we will explore the mysterious occurrence of psychotic behavior for those dealing with Parkinson's disease.

Over the centuries, dukedoms were created by the monarch for various reasons - ranging from rewarding a major war hero to acknowledging a king's illegitimate son. With only 24 non-royal ducal estates remaining in Britain today, do the dukes of the 21st century still retain their historical power and wealth? In the fascinating documentary THE LAST DUKES, answers come from a variety of extraordinary characters, including Lady Rosemary Spencer-Churchill, aunt of the current Duke of Marlborough, who was brought up in Blenheim Palace with 36 servants; the Duke of Atholl, who until 2012 was a rural South African sign-maker named Bruce Murray; the Scottish Duke of Montrose, one of the few dukes remaining in House of Lords; and the Duchess of Rutland, whose business savvy has kept the family seat of Belvoir Castle in good repair.
