Every morning after taking a long list of medications, 89-year-old Phyllis Sabatini does her calisthenics and goes on a long walk around the Palm Desert neighborhood where she lives with her husband, daughter, and granddaughter. "Grandmom" may only be 4' 7," but she still stands tall as the head of a close-knit Italian American family struggling to come to terms with the declining health of its aging parents. Phyllis is facing her last chapter with courage and determination, but her 90-year-old husband Joe seems to have given up; he's detached and prefers to sleep most of the day. Phyllis loves her family. She especially relishes the time she spends with her granddaughter, Jacqueline. But she sees how much strain taking care of her and Joe is putting on their family. As she watches her daughter struggle to care for everyone from nine to 90, Phyllis makes a radical decision to move into assisted living. Phyllis Sabatini realizes that leaving home is difficult at any age, but she learns that sometimes, the best way to say "I love you" is to say "goodbye."

This week's show opens with a gripping report from Stephen Gibbs on the aftermath - years later - of the massive 2010 earthquake in Haiti. Perhaps not unsurprisingly in a place so poor, millions of homeless people who survived the quake still struggle to build new lives. Next Harris Whitbeck takes viewers to Argentina to sample some of the fruity, red, Malbec wines of Mendoza. We learn of the beauty and business opportunities in this region. And through Whitbeck sample its food and drink. Finally - while on a theme of good food and drink, Americas Now ends with a video essay from Peru on its unique cuisine.

Many Native American groups in pre-Conquest Mexico celebrated one day each year when their deceased ancestors would return to visit them-El Dia de los Muertos. This ancient tradition has become the state of Oaxaca's most important celebration. Parades, home altars, and gaily-decorated graves welcome back the dead. The custom has spread throughout Mexico and even to Los Angeles and Tucson.

TIM O'BRIEN is one of titans of roots-music. Between collaborations with Darrell Scott, the recent Grammy winning recording with Jerry Douglas's Earls of Leicester and the rebooting of Hot Rize; it has been four years since Tim's last solo recording. Still, somewhere in O'Brien's vivid imagination, the seeds of 'Pompadour' began to sprout. The fruits of his recent wanderings, music making and worldly observations have blossomed into eleven exquisitely varied, true to life and above all musical tracks. RON BLOCK has long since secured his reputation as a deeply thoughtful and accomplished musician. After two-decades as part of Alison Krauss' band, Union Station, with whom he's earned a collection of Grammy, IBMA, and Dove awards, as well as many years as a songwriter and sideman for the likes of Rhonda Vincent, Randy Travis, The Boxcars, The Cox Family, Dailey & Vincent, Dolly Parton, and Vince Gill, Block now presents his new solo album, 'Hogan's House of Music'. WoodSongs Kid: Marteka & William Lake hail from Hacker Valley, West Virginia. This sister and brother duo play bluegrass in the Flatt and Scruggs style.

To help close the distance between civilian society and those who volunteer for duty, a group of six Tampa Bay veterans and one military spouse have embarked on a journey to share their stories. As part of the national Telling Project initiative to connect veterans and the public through the power of theater, this team of local vets created dramatic performances from their personal experiences and performed them live at local theaters. FEMININE

TOUCH

FMTC000000H

In 1892, Andrew Taylor Still did the unimaginable when he accepted women and men equally in his newly opened medical school. The Feminine Touch showcases the valiant women who rose above adversity to become osteopathic doctors in those early years, and includes today's prominent female physicians who carry on that legacy. The stories of their fight against the inequality of the sexes in medicine are intertwined with the struggles of osteopathic medicine to be accepted as a valid scientific practice, illuminating the innovative and determined individuals who helped osteopathic medicine develop into the flourishing profession it is today.

VIETNAM WAR:

VWVB: The Vietnam War was a turning point for the United States, the Vietnamese, and the citizens of both countries. For Floridians who participated, protested, or escaped, their memories remain especially clear. "The Vietnam War: Voices from the Bay" focuses on those who fought, those who continued battling on the home front, and those who call it the most significant experience of their lives. We'll hear from home town heroes from the Bay Area who were shot down and others who survived years of combat. Many weren't welcomed home, and are dealing with the traumatic effects of the war years later. For thousands of Floridians, Vietnam was the issue that forced them to take a stand.
